Summary of reasons for decision:

‘E2AE3AEB-2D99-49DE-A25D-533DE8C7C817’ is an amateur video that depicts two farm dogs being ordered to viciously attack a fox that has gained access to a chicken coop. The video ends before the viewer can find out whether the fox was humanely euthanised or left to die of its injuries. The video is likely to greatly shock and disturb children and teenagers in particular. Footage like this is also likely to have an eventual effect of inuring younger viewers who are still developing emotionally and cognitively, to other real-life suffering more generally. While many adults are also likely to be disturbed by the footage, it would not be reasonable to classify the publication as objectionable given the nature of the recording. Adults are also expected to have the maturity and experience to appropriately contextualise potentially distressing material. The Classification Office has considered the effects of the New Zealand Bill of Rights Act 1990 on the application of all the classification criteria. A restriction on the publication's availability to adults places a limit on the right to freedom of expression, but this is a reasonable and justifiable limitation given the risk of injury to the public good.
